Downtown center would have saved business

By Jack C. Ventimiglia
Executive editor

GRANITE CITY — Earl's Sporting Goods stores are closing downtown and at Nameoki Village Shopping Center, owner Earl Harris said Friday. The stores employ 10 people.

Harris said if the proposed downtown shopping center had been built, he might have kept the store at 19th Street and Cleveland Boulevard open but it is closing because it isn't making money. The store at 3675 Nameoki Road is closing because he was unable to re-negotiate a lease, Harris said. If a suitable location is found, he will open one store in Granite City, he said.

"It saddens me to bring this gloomy news, but my hands are tied," he said.

Harris said downtown used to be the place for businesses and he remembered that when he started working there in 1954 the people crowded the sidewalk. Not enough people are downtown these days, he said.

"I've been fighting for downtown," Harris said. "But the new homes, and the traffic that we cater to, have moved to the area surrounding Nameoki and that seems to be where all the business is."

If the shopping center for downtown had been built, Harris' downtown store might not be closing, Harris said.

"If they had built a shopping center, it would certainly be a different story," Harris said. "But I remember the first plan (for downtown) 15 years ago and if it hasn't happened now it will be lucky if it happens in another 15."

Alan Orbals, city director for economic development, said the city is on schedule with plans for a downtown shopping center. Unlike in previous years, the city administration is making progress, he said.

"The difference is we're not studying the situation," Orbals said.

Progress is not moving as quickly as perhaps some would like, but the city cannot move any faster, Orbals said.

"We're going to involve the city in a multi-million dollar development program. I think everybody in town wants us to be extremely careful when we do that," he said. "We want as few surprises along the way as possible, and that's what we're about now."

By the end of the year, Orbals said, the city should begin purchasing property for the center. The purchase should take about a year, he said, and construction is projected to begin in 1989.

The company plans to keep its stores open until all merchandise is sold, Harris said.

The company's stores in Fairview Heights and Hillsboro, Ill., will not close, he said.

Wilbur resigns teaching post

GRANITE CITY — The resignation of Gary Wilbur, a Granite City High School teacher accused of fondling five female students, was accepted Thursday by the District 9 Board of Education.

Wilbur, 41, of 2588 Boyle Ave., was charged May 11 with five counts of official misconduct. He allegedly touched the breasts of some of the girls and put his hand on the thigh of one girl. The students ranged in age from 13 to 16.

He pleaded not guilty to the charges at an arraignment hearing May 27, according to court documents. Wilbur is awaiting trial before Madison County Associate Judge Charles Romani Jr. Granite City attorney John Gitchoff is representing Wilbur.

If convicted, Wilbur potentially could face two to five years in prison on each count, officials said.

Wilbur was sentenced to one year of court supervision on each of two disorderly conduct charges in 1979.

On April 27, 1979, he exposed himself in the Lovejoy Library at SIUE. On May 9, 1979, Wilbur lay on the floor of the SIUE library and looked up the dress of a female student.

In each case, he paid an $80 fine. Court supervision in the cases ended July 10, 1980.

Following the supervision, Wilbur's record was cleared of the two charges. He underwent psychiatric treatment and underwent treatment under the supervision of a female student.

Newspaper will appeal decision on District 9 suit

GRANITE CITY — The Press-Record/Journal's lawsuit against the District 9 Board of Education will be appealed, Publisher Rick Jarvis said Monday.

The newspaper alleges the board violated the Illinois Open Meetings Act during closed meetings Dec. 16, Jan. 20 and Feb. 3. The newspaper sought preliminary and permanent injunctions to bar the alleged violations.

"The people have a right to know what went on in those executive sessions," Jarvis said. "That's why the public has the Open Meetings Act. It's there to keep the public informed. If you don't have that, you have a closed society."

On July 2, Associate Judge Nicholas G. Byron ruled against the newspaper. The following summarizes what Byron ruled the board could privately discuss:

— The quality of Henry Gabriel's architectural services

— Goals set for Superintendent Gib Walmsley

— A contract with the Granite City School of Beauty Culture

— In-service training for teachers

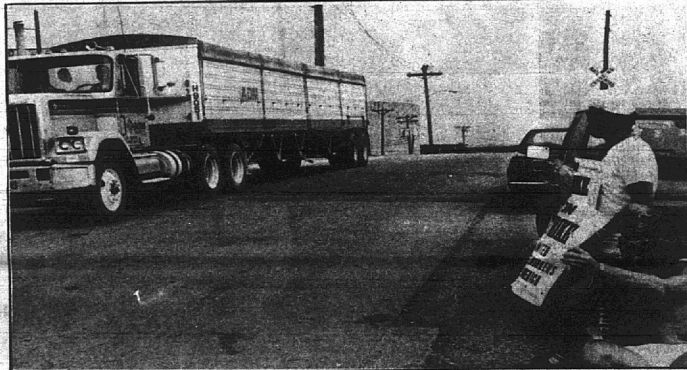

— Continued education for teachers and administrators

— Reimbursing teachers for tuition

— The method for recalling five teachers to duty

— Student enrollment statistics

ON STRIKE: Members of United Steelworkers of America Local 14052 face 'On Strike' placards towards a driver of truck who had just dumped his load of grain at Bulk Service Co. facilities at the Tri-City Regional Port District Monday afternoon. The 45-member local struck the company July 20 when negotiations failed to produce a new contract acceptable to the union.

Steelworkers strike against Bulk Service

GRANITE CITY — United Steelworkers of America Local 14052 is striking Bulk Service Co., a grain storage and transportation business at Tri-City Regional Port District.

Scott Paterson, Granite City, a crane operator, said the company wants concessions that are unacceptable to the union. The contract expired July 1. Forty-five union members struck July 20.

"Since they started negotiating, they came up 15 cents,"

Paterson said. "That's all they'd give us."

As a crane operator, Paterson said he made $11.15 per hour and could get $6.80 per hour in benefits. He said the company wants to pay him $7.25 per hour and offer no benefits for the same job.

"They've already told us they're going to call new employees in," Paterson said. "They made us clean our lockers out. They more or less told us that we don't have jobs."

Company comptroller Don Krifke said the union and company reached an impasse. He said the company seeks concessions that could not be unlivable and that could be reviewed at the end of the year.

"I don't feel we should carry out negotiations outside of the meeting room and I'm going to live up to that," he said.

Paterson said the company claims to be losing money, but won't show its records to the union.

Partney will keep license during appeal

GRANITE CITY — School Board member David Partney will keep his license while his driving under the influence case is being appealed.

A state appellate prosecutor lost a bid last week in the 5th Appellate Court District in Mt. Vernon to stop Partney from driving during the appeal.

The action by the appellate court reaffirms an earlier decision by Madison County Associate Judge Edward Ferguson to stay an automatic suspension of Partney's driver's license.

Partney was arrested by Granite City police April 17 and charged with DUI. He was convicted of the DUI charge on June 17.

Partney claimed he was set up by patrolman Tim Lyle in the arrest but a hearing before Ferguson upheld the arrest. Ferguson then stayed an automatic driving suspension because Partney appealed Ferguson's probable cause ruling.

The Illinois Secretary of State's office had said Ferguson's stay was invalid under the state's DUI law and listed Partney's license as suspended. But the office later accepted an injunction.

Changed budget tighter

By Dave Goanelli
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Changes last week in the proposed budget make the city's budget much tighter.

Finance Committee chairman Jake Varadian told aldermen at the council's July 21 meeting that he predicted a surplus of $38 in the 1987-88 budget. Varadian's projections before that meeting included a $13,000 surplus.

Mayor Von Dee Cruse's budget for his department will be increased from a proposed budget of $28,000 to $27,800. The City Clerk's budget will also be increased from $15,600 to $18,000.

Cruse said the increases for his department were mainly due to underfunding of several items in his department, including money to pay utility bills and to pay for copy machine maintenance.

Other changes, including reductions in proposed salary increases, will keep the budget in the black.

Because of questions aldermen had of the proposed budget, the council did not pass a final budget at Tuesday's meeting. The council must pass and publish a final budget by Friday, July 31, according to state law.

Some committee chairmen questioned cuts of some proposed line items in several departments.

Sixth ward Alderwoman Judy Whitaker, chairwoman of the Fire, Water and Ambulance Committee, said cuts from the Fire Department's budget requests were too severe. Whitaker specifically mentioned a $10,000 cut for repairs to department vehicles.

Fire Chief Joe Holder also urged the council to reconsider buying a new ambulance which was cut from the department's budget request. He said the city has not purchased a new ambulance in at least a decade.

"We need one," Holder said. Some aldermen discussed leasing an ambulance or entering into a long-term financing agreement, but no decision was made.

Second Ward Alderman Pat Schuman, Chairman of the Street and Alley Committee, requested that a street sweeper and an asphalt spreader be purchased by the city. Those items were cut from the Street Department budget request.

Schuman said the items were needed and thought the asphalt spreader could be purchased through the city's portion of the state's Motor Fuel Tax. But Street Superintendent Mac Warfield said that, if the city used the tax to buy the spreader, state guidelines would only permit limited use of the spreader.

The items were expected to be considered at a final hearing on the budget before the council's July 28 meeting.

Reviews and previews

Judge to hear city, township suit

Madison County Associate Judge Edward Ferguson decided last week to hear the suit continuing Nameoki Township's challenge to Granite City's annexation of Granite City Steel's coke plant. The judge said the court is "exercising its discretion" to allow the challenge to proceed.

Budget cuts to trim state aid, services

Gov. James R. Thompson on July 29 took action to bring the fiscal year 1988 (July 1987-June 1988) budget into balance, vetoing $363 million from the $10.795 billion General Revenue Fund appropriations passed by legislators.

Most public schools face cuts in their state aid. State Police patrols in East St. Louis are to be phased out.

"The General Assembly has approved spending plans far in excess of our anticipated revenues, and it is my constitutional duty to pare those appropriations back to an affordable amount," Thompson said.

"It should be clear to all Illinoisans that the level of services they have requested — and expect — from state government will not be possible in FY 88."

"These vetoes are required only because the Assembly refused to approve modest tax increases to pay for those needed state services. Legislators have said that no tax increases were needed."

"The impact will be felt throughout the communities throughout Illinois, but I have attempted to protect the most essential services of state government. At the same time, I have insisted on putting our fiscal house in order, and I have worked with Cabinet members to be certain the appropriation reductions are made where they will do the least damage," Thompson said.

State revenue forecasters have predicted the General Revenue Fund will grow by about $413 million in FY 88, but financial commitments prohibit using any of that growth for service improvements, the governor said.

The commitments include:

- $104 million to repay short-term borrowing in FY 87,
- $134 million to cover the FY 87 operating deficit,
- $59 million in unavoidable payments such as the statutory requirement that local governments receive a portion of income tax revenues,
- $81 million in FY 87 obligations (including income tax refunds) deferred by the comptroller's office, and
- $46 million to insure that the balance at the close of FY 88 is $200 million, considered necessary to meet emergencies.

"While some will attempt to argue that the General Assembly approved a manageable state budget, it should be apparent to all that a budget that ignores our debts and spends every penny in the bank is not a manageable budget," Thompson said.

He said he had taken into account post-session requests by legislators and others for cuts of a lesser magnitude.

"Because these requests were largely based on assumptions concerning multi-state lottery receipts, it was impossible to do so."

"Since our General Assembly adjourned in July, New York failed to pass its multi-state lottery bill. Without New York's participation, no solid estimates of lottery revenues can be made today," Thompson said.

"Also since the Legislature adjourned, it has been suggested to me that income tax revenues will be higher than those forecast by the Bureau of the Budget."

"But these academic economic assumptions do not square with the forecasts of either the Bureau of the Budget or the Economic and Fiscal Commission, nor with the possibility raised by a number of national economic commentators of a mild recession in the next calendar year.

"Spending 'hoped for' revenues is what got us into this difficulty and we are digging our way out, not deeper."

"Some legislators have suggested other monies are available, that I am cutting the budget further than necessary. They suggest that the proposed multi-state lottery, or the changes in the used car tax, will produce significant new resources to fund education and other functions."

"I do not share their optimism. However, I pledge my support for additional funding for both elementary-secondary and higher education, should improvement in our financial condition warrant it," Thompson said.

"I propose we review January forecasts for these and other sources. To the extent the outlook has improved and we have kept spending under control elsewhere in the budget, I will gladly join with the Assembly to provide additional, needed resources to fund education and other vital programs."

GSX hopes to expand landfill

GSX Corp. of Illinois hopes to expand the Barton Landfill near Edwardsville by 157 acres if it gets approval from the county.

Chuck Emde, a district manager in St. Louis, said the landfill is now 110 acres and has a life expectancy of about 15 years. Expansion would increase the life of the landfill to about 20 years, he said.

GSX must get approval from the Madison County Board to expand and could run into opposition.

"I don't think we need it," said Bob Stille, chairman of the board's Environmental Control Committee.

"They have to prove a need," said Stille, D-Edwardsville. "That's one of the things I'm going to be interested in."

The landfill is off Old Alton Road between Edwardsville and Wanda. Emde said GSX hauls trash there from Edwardsville, Collinsville, Granite City and parts of East St. Louis.

GSX is under contract to haul about 100,000 tons of St. Louis trash a year there, and also sells use of the landfill to other haulers, he said.

The landfill is for residential, commercial and non-hazardous industrial wastes, Emde said.

The last time it expanded was in 1982, when it added 30 acres, he said.

Stille said GSX told the county in 1982 that the expansion would ensure enough space for GSX for another 20 years. Last year, however, he said, it started hauling large volumes of St. Louis trash, which is filling the landfill quickly.

Stille said he wants GSX to prove another expansion would benefit Madison County.

Outraged by removal of SIUE mascot

To the editor:

As an alumnus of SIUE, I am outraged at the administration of the university for stealing the school mascot from the students and sending her away to an animal park.

I cannot believe the university officials made the decision without consulting the students and letting them decide, since they had bought and paid for the cougar.

The administrators totally ignored the thousands of student signatures on petitions circulated on campus.

But the decision was made and the cougar now resides in SIUC country in Metropolis. We now must set our efforts on reversing this intolerable decision, the latest in a string of bad decisions by the "reign of terror" of the current administration.

I would like to ask all fellow alumni to withhold all support to the university. Why should we do anything for a university that cares so little for our traditions that we established as students?

Second, call or write the university and let them know how you feel. As alumni, current students or members of the community, the cougar belonged to us.

I'm sure it meant a lot more to you and I than anything the administration has put on campus recently, including the $50,000 rusted iron scrap in front of the Vadaabene Center.

Third, I hope the Student Senate on behalf of all students past and present will take legal action against the university.

The students had proprietary rights; the administration had no legal right in removing the cougar.

I am hopeful enough people will care enough to help bring Kyna, the cougar mascot, back to campus. Just as the U.S. would not send the Liberty Bell to France, SIUE should not send its symbol away to Metropolis.

Let's hope Kyna enjoys her vacation but that her stay is a short one.

Las Cruces, N.M.

Hartigan combining some services

To the editor:

Budget cuts imposed by Gov. Thompson July 20 have forced the Attorney General's Office to consolidate some services.

The 4 percent cut the governor mandated for all constitutional officers, combined with the fact that I have cut my budget for the two previous years despite an increasing workload, has made these difficult decisions necessary.

Included in the consolidation are the following moves designed to cut operational expenses:

The closing of five regional offices: Cook County North, Cook County South, Skokie, Oak Lawn and Decatur. The four Chicago regions will be served by a mobile law office which will be made available to various community groups. Arrangements to share space with other governmental agencies in Decatur are being explored.

The closing of the Springfield Charitable Trusts Division and the transfer of its duties to Chicago.

Giving up leases for office space in the 174 Building in Chicago and the Lincoln Towers Office Building in Springfield. Individuals in those offices will move into the main offices in the State of Illinois Center in Chicago and the main Attorney General's Building in Springfield.

In addition, the revised budget has made some personnel changes necessary, including the layoff of 22 Attorney General employees and the assignment of additional duties to remaining personnel.

The additional layoffs will bring the headcount of the Attorney General's Office to approximately 80 less than it was last November, making the office consolidations in Chicago and Springfield possible. The move will cause some overcrowding, however.

These actions were not planned nor were they wanted, but they are something we have been forced to do.

Unfortunately, Gov. Thompson did not take my suggestion to reduce costs by cutting the $40 million his agencies have bud-getted for legal services.

The cuts imposed on my office will damage our efforts to fight the problems of toxic waste pollution, consumer fraud, the plight of the family farmer, and efforts to uphold the rights of seniors and the disabled. It will also hurt our ability to keep up our high rate of revenue collection.

My office has become a profit center for Illinois, bringing in $5 for each dollar we expend in tax revenue, and providing an additional $169 million for state coffers since 1983.

These cuts will make it very difficult to maintain that level of return.

I want the people of the state to know that this is no way lessens my commitment to provide the services of the Attorney General's Office to all the citizens of the state who need them. Given the limited resources we are being provided, we will continue to work to serve the citizens of Illinois.

NEIL F. HARTIGAN
Attorney General,
State of Illinois

Seat belts misunderstood by public

The use of seat belts in automobiles seems to be misunderstood by many people.

All too often, issues such as constitutional freedom, individual rights, and all sorts of "noble" causes get involved. But seat belts do not address these issues; seat belts involve the safety and welfare of the public. Seat belts do protect people.

Driving an automobile is not a constitutional right but a privilege administered by the states. Drivers are tested and licensed, and drivers use roads maintained by various government agencies.

The No. 1 threat to young people in our society is from automobile crashes. These cause more injuries and deaths among the young than anything else. Everyone of us can expect to be in a crash once every 10 years.

If a person gets thrown from the vehicle, the chances of being

Think About It

By Prof. F. Henry Firsching

killed are about 25 times greater than if the person stayed inside. Keeping people inside the vehicle is the most important function of a seat belt.

When a person is hurled from the vehicle, the individual can be smashed against a rock, a tree or a wall. Such high-speed impacts can be fatal. Furthermore, the vehicle can roll over the motorist after the person is thrown out.

Even inside the vehicle, the seat belts prevent the occupants from being banged into one another or into objects inside. Seat belts prevent many high-speed impacts from taking place. Staying in one place becomes important.

Failure to use a seat belt by one person poses a hazard for all the other occupants of a vehicle. The unbelted person can become a projectile smashing into others when a collision occurs. Seat belts are for the safety of all occupants.

Even with the poor compliance of people about using seat belts, the statistics are impressive.

It has been estimated that over 9,000 lives are saved and more than 300,000 injuries are reduced or prevented each year in the United States. Seat belts do lower the amount of misfortune and death. If they were used more, the misery would be lowered even further.

Rates will rise, but not as high as IP wanted

SPRINGFIELD — The Illinois Commerce Commission gave Illinois Power Co. customers some bad news and some good news July 15.

The Illinois Commerce Commission authorized a depreciation rate and decommissioning plan for IP's Clinton nuclear-powered electric power generating plant, but it approved funding for those plans of much less than IP requested.

Illinois Power wanted to collect more than $742 million to shut down the plant and dispose of radioactive elements in the year 2026. The ICC authorized only $396 million.

The action will not be reflected in customer's bills until after IP's next rate case is decided, expected to be at least a year from now, said ICC spokeswoman Beth Bosch.

She estimated the cost to an individual IP residential customer for the decommissioning plan at only between $1 and $2 per year.

The cost of the depreciation for the plant to individual customers is not yet known because the ICC has not yet determined the total amount of Clinton costs that is to be charged to ratepayers, Bosch added.

However, Public Counsel Stephen J. Moore, a state-appointed consumer watchdog, said residential customers could pay about $50 more a year under the depreciation plan.

IP would actually collect a little more than $2 million a year from customers to decommission the plant. Traditionally, utilities have been allowed to control decommissioning funds and spend them for other purposes until they are needed, but the ICC denied such a request from IP.

Moore said this change would "ensure that IP can decommission Clinton promptly and properly."

Moore also praised the ICC's endorsement of his office's position on the depreciation rate allowed IP for Clinton, cutting the 3.005 percent a year requested by IP down to 2.766 percent. That will save approximately $8.3 million overall or about $4.70 a year for individual ratepayers during the first year of Clinton's operation, he said.

Also on July 15, the ICC put off discussion of testing requirements before the Clinton plant is allowed to go to full power. Clinton is still in low-power tests. It began supplying its first year of IP customers this spring.

Bill Herman, chief counsel for the Governor's Office of Consumer Services, asked for the discussions to be postponed indefinitely. He said his office wanted to assure that IP ratepayers would not have to start paying for the rest of the more than $4 billion Clinton costs until "we're sure it works as planned."

Many IP customers have been protesting rate hikes, tied to milestones in the completion of the Clinton plant and taking effect this summer.

Blue Cross luncheon to honor Rep. Price

U.S. Rep. Melvin Price, 21st District Democrat, will be honored at a testimonial luncheon sponsored by Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Illinois at the Collinsville Hilton on Friday, Aug. 14.

The luncheon will feature appearances by U.S. Sen. Alan Dixon and Rep. Price's neighboring Illinois congressmen, Richard Durbin (D-20th District) and Kenneth J. Gray (D-22nd), as well as House Minority Leader Robert H. Michel (R-18th).

Program and registration information is available from Thomas J. Drews, Corporate Affairs, (312) 938-6157.

The retiring congressman has been elected to 22 consecutive two-year terms in the U.S. House of Representatives.

A series of five-minute tributes will be presented by federal and state legislators, civic and corporate leaders and friends of Rep. Price.

The Aug. 14 program will be the third in this year's series of community leadership luncheon programs sponsored throughout the state by Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Illinois.

BAC offers free training

Fifteen dislocated workers will receive $2,294 free training and services in a year-long program offered at Belleville Area College's Belleville Campus.

Classes for a year of schooling in word processing begin Aug. 24 and additional information is available by calling 235-2700, ext. 201.

"Income is not a consideration," said Mary Walsh of the college's Small Business Development Center. "This is a first-come, first-serve opportunity for dislocated workers from St. Clair, Monroe, Clinton, Washington or Randolph counties."

There are requirements, including:

The applicant must either be — A) laid off due to a work reduction in the past five years and have worked three years in the same type of job for one or more employers; or B) laid off within the past five years due to a plant closure. There is no restriction on work history if the applicant was out of work because of a plant closing.

Simon bill targets elder abuse

Sen. Paul Simon, D-Ill., has joined Rep. Claude Pepper, D-Fla., in pressing for statewide programs to help prevent physical, financial and psychological abuse of the elderly.

Experts estimated more than 1.1 million elderly Americans are the victims of some form of abuse each year, with only one in five cases reported.

Pepper, who directed the first congressional studies and hearings on the problem, reports an increase of 100,000 in the annual number of elder abuse cases since 1981.

The Pepper-Simon bill, introduced in the Senate July 15, would direct each state to implement a program to detect and prevent elder abuse.

The programs would provide public education and outreach to identify and prevent abuse, receive reports of abuse, counsel victims and refer cases to appropriate state and local law enforcement agencies. The measure would provide states with $5 million in grants in 1988 and additional funds through 1991.

The U.S. House of Representatives has approved a similar proposal sponsored by Pepper.

Families and victims tend to keep these kinds of problems hidden," said Simon. "But, like child abuse, the issue will not go away until it is recognized and until there are direct steps to correct it."

Simon cited several cases of elder abuse that were reported to Pepper.

"A 68-year-old South Carolina woman was kept by her daughter in an unheated portion of their house where temperatures dipped as low as 20 degrees. The woman was found with eight soiled blankets over her head to keep warm. She was hospitalized for pneumonia and malnutrition."

"An 83-year-old Florida woman, the victim of Parkinson's disease and poor vision and hearing, gave her lawyer power of attorney to help her manage her affairs. Her lawyer systematically stole thousands of dollars from her by selling her stocks and property."

"A 65-year-old California woman whose son moved into her house, confiscated her Social Security checks, and threw away her medications for arthritis and pain."

The bill has been referred to the Senate Committee on Labor and Human Resources, of which Simon is a member.

Used book sale starts on Aug. 16

The 1987 Jewish Community Centers Association's Used Book Sale will be held Aug. 16 to 21 at the JCCA, 2 Millstone Campus Drive, near Lindbergh and Schuetz roads, St. Louis.

Almost 50,000 used books and records will be for sale, as well as old box cameras, wall coverings, clocks, phonographs, trophies and mysterious mechanical objects in the countless boxes of books, which have been donated for the sale.

"We'll put some of those things on sale too, on a miscellaneous table," said Gloria Urias, event co-chairwoman.

But the main attraction, said co-chairwomen Bea Davis and Dolly Darigo, are the thousands of books divided in 38 categories.

"This year we have an especially fine selection of literature and encyclopedia collections, biographies, archeology and anthropology books, Old and New Testament materials, cookbooks of every kind, a good Yiddish collection, and even a section of large print books for people with visual problems," said Davis.

Hours of operation are Sundays: 10 a.m.-5 p.m., and Monday through Thursday, 10 a.m.-5 p.m. Preview day is Sunday, Aug. 16, and admission for that day is $2 per person and $4 per family. Admission is free on all other days of the sale.

The sale is conducted in air-conditioned comfort at the JCCA, and volunteers are available to help customers locate books and to arrange help in getting heavy boxes to the car.

Gateway BPW hears Karen Malottki

Karen Malottki, president of the Tri-Cities Chapter of Professional Secretaries International, spoke at the general meeting of Gateway Business and Professional Women's Organization. Her topic was "Supporting Women in the Work Place." She said women must learn to take control of their lives, to grasp every opportunity for advancement and to be more assertive. Malottki said secretaries are gaining more recognition because management is becoming more of a team effort and secretaries are part of that team.

"Be All You Can Be" is the slogan for the U.S. Army and could very well be theme for women in the work force, she said.

Three members of the host group, Ruth Nicholas, Marie Szymczek and Ollie Derr, gave their views on topics BPW is focusing on for the 1987 year.

Nicholas, who is legislation chairman, said she feels legislators and the people need to continue taking steps to combat drug use, violence and crime, especially in cases of abused women and abused children in homes, schools and day care centers.

She explained the goals of Phoenix Crisis Center for Abused Women and Children and said Gateway has supported the group for two years and will continue this aid.

Young Careerist Chairman Szymczek focused on the "Family Changing Scene." She said a woman has two jobs, one she gets paid for and the other she does for free. The family should share and let part of that woman be the delicate person they call mom and wife, she said.

Derr serves as finance chairman for the organization. She said she feels members should educate other working women about BPW, so that they might profit from BPW programs, seminars on stress management, time management and assertiveness, scholarship foundations, and leadership training. BPW focuses on helping the working women with matters such as pay equity, credit cards, insurance and day care centers, she said.

President LaVelle Stephens presided at the business session and introduced Dorothy Elmore, chairman for the meeting, held at Drury Inn in Collinsville. Elmore presented guests Susie Mainbridge and Twila Edmonds.

During the meeting, Derr announced a rummage sale will be held in September as a fundraising project and that all members are to start saving items.

Fatima statue to be in area

The International Pilgrim Virgin Statue of Our Lady of Fatima will be visiting Catholic churches throughout Southern Illinois Aug. 1-25. This statue is used to promote worldwide knowledge of the Fatima message — the "peace plan from Heaven."

It has been taken through Europe, Africa and Asia and briefly into Iron Curtain countries. It was brought to the U.S. in 1974 after 27 years in other countries, where it was seen and venerated by more than 200 million people.

The Pilgrim Virgin of Fatima is four feet tall and weighs 43 pounds. Jose Thedim, called "the Michelangelo of Portugal," carved the image from a solid block of cedar in 1947. The statue is clothed in white robes of imported French lace and bridal satin which took three months to sew.

Accompanying the statue and preaching the message of "Prayer for Peace" is Louis Kaczmarek of the World Apostolate of Fatima national office in Washington, N.J.

Kaczmarek has said that wherever the statue goes, "God's grace accompanies it abundantly, bringing people closer to Jesus. All are invited to visit the churches to see the statue and to pray for 'true world peace.'"

The schedule includes St. Peter Cathedral, Belleville, at 8:30 p.m. Aug. 1; Immaculate Conception Church, Centerville, at 7 p.m. Aug. 2; St. Mary's, Belleville, at 7 p.m. Aug. 4; and St. Albert the Great, Fairview Heights, at 7 p.m. Aug. 6.

Leadership workshop held in Carbondale

The Southern Leadership Conference held at Carbondale for members of Business and Professional Women's Organizations was attended by Gateway BPW members and officers, LaVelle Stephens, president; Dorothy Elmore, vice president; Marie Szymek, Young Careerist chairman; and Ollie Derr, finance chairman.

Workshops were conducted for each standing committee, including membership, foundation, finance, Young Careerist, legislation, public relations and program.

Lunch was served to members, and the guest speaker was the state individual development committee leadership chairman.

She said that a good leader knows the importance of teamwork and that both the leader and the team members must learn to work together and dance together to the same tune. "Involve members so they can learn it will be fulfilling to them and your club," she said.

Members will become leaders if they have enthusiasm, a good attitude, can plan goals and organize time properly. "Let's all have a part in the deciding of plans for the organization for none of us, is as smart as all of us," she said.

Illinois Federation Business and Professional State President Sonya Charness announced she is holding all BPW leaders accountable for involving members. She said members will want to become more involved if the local BPW program offer personal contact, good programs, leadership and networking. "Urge all members to carry a red purse - red stands for deficit - for women earn 36 percent less than men do."

She also urged members to acquaint other working women with the workings of BPW. Any working woman interested in attending a meeting of Gateway BPW or becoming a member may contact Donna Kimbro, membership chairman, by calling 981-6538. The next meeting of the organization will be on finance and is scheduled for Aug. 20.

What kind of father lets his kid work for nickels & dimes?

A father who realizes that a newspaper carrier route can reward a youngster with much more than spending money.

It can teach the sweet satisfaction of self-reliance and paying your own way. It can teach a lot about people, about getting along with fellow workers, about bosses, and about what you type customers and what they owe you.

It can teach pride, responsibility and hanging in there doing what has to be done and doing it right.

If you'd like this for your youngster, suggest that he or she call our circulation department and ask about a newspaper route.

Oh, and about the money in this job the nickels and dimes very quickly add up to real dollars.

Coach resigns in Madison

By Donna Kimbro
Staff writer

MADISON — In preparation for the opening day of school on Aug. 25, the Board of Education has accepted the resignation of one coach, hired two new teachers and rehired another teacher.

Carol C. girls basketball, volleyball and softball coach at Madison High School, resigned.

Hired for the 1987-88 school year were Lloyd Lucy from the Lebanon School District as a science teacher at Madison High School, and Pauline Lane of Madison as the special education resource teacher at Madison Middle School. The board rehired Debra Williams for the language-impaired class at the Middle School.

A contract for athletic lockers at the high school was awarded to the Latta Co., Cedar Falls, Iowa, at a cost of $17,000, the lowest of three bids submitted. The new lockers are expected to be installed within eight weeks.

Superintendent of Schools Dan Kostenick said he is now accepting bids for installation of new lights on the MHS football field and will present the options to the board at the next meeting.

A comprehensive drug policy for the school district, presented by Robert Mehele at a previous meeting, is still being studied by the board attorney, John Papa. Kostenick said he expects the policy to be ready for adoption by the board in August.

Student school-time insurance supplied by American Youth School Insurance will increase this year by 50 cents; football coverage will increase by $10, the superintendent said, adding, "I still think this is good coverage and this company is usually pretty quick to take care of claims." Board members voted to continue with the same plan and company.

Board approval was given for purchase of five new Actionwriter typewriters to cost a total of $2,250 and five new desks at a cost of $319, for the high school.

Byron also ruled July 2 against a similar suit filed against the board by one of its members, David Partney, who is appealing the decision.

The purpose of the meeting is to discuss the annual tax levy, said Nancy Sanders Miles, vice president of the board.

Salaries part of budget scrutiny

By Dave Gossnell
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — A proposed $5,000-a-year salary increase for two city officials drew negative reviews from aldermen last week.

The salaries of City Comptroller Joe Miklovic and Assistant City Comptroller Kim MacTaggart, each were earmarked for a $5,000 increase in the city's proposed budget.

At the start of the council's July 21 meeting, Sixth Ward Alderman Paul Fisk called the proposed increases "extraordinary."

"Even though I think Joe does a good job, that's extraordinary. I disagree with it," Fisk said.

The council decided to reduce the salary increase requests to $2,000 for Miklovic and $1,500 for MacTaggart. The figures represent a five percent increase. All city employees, unless otherwise stated, will receive a three percent salary increase next year.

At about $40,000 a year, not including benefits, Miklovic is the highest paid city employee.

At the council's July 7 meeting, Miklovic defended the proposed increase. Miklovic said the increase reflected what financial administrators of other public bodies make and referred to the salary of District 9 financial director Norm Owca. Owca's salary, not including benefits, is $42,600.

Miklovic also said that, though he puts in extra hours when budgets are being prepared and often saves the city much more money than his salary reflects, he does not get paid overtime nor does he get the same benefits as the city's union employees do.

In a close vote, the council rejected a request by Mayor Von Dee Cruse that Cruse's secretary receive a $1,000 salary increase. Cruse said his secretary is the lowest paid city employee and deserved the raise.

Venice to resurface outdoor basketball courts at school

By Valerie Evenden
Staff writer

VENICE — Outdoor basketball courts and the entrance drive at the Venice public schools will be resurfaced this summer, the Board of Education decided at its meeting July 23.

A low bid of $12,455, submitted by Granite Sheet Metal Works, was accepted by the board, subject to verification of specifications.

Bids of $13,195 from C.D. Peters Construction Co. and $17,100 from B. J. Johnson Co. also were opened by Henry R. Gabriel, school district architect.

Other projects called for in separate bids including replacing a concrete area, paving an alleyway in the rear of the gymnasium, and replacing an area between an old garage and the school's 1968 addition — were delayed until a later date.

No contract was awarded on a repair and replacement project at Venice-Lincoln Technical Center. A substantial difference in quotations existed between one bidder and three other contracting firms submitting proposals. The base proposal calls for correction of extensive erosion beneath the foundation near the entrance to VLT's child care facility.

"It's a complicated problem and I would like to talk with the low bidder before we enter into an agreement," Gabriel said.

Removing the entrance walk, sawcutting floor slabs, mudjacking work and installing drain tile and a sump pump will be necessary, the architect said.

The ground has sunk about four or five feet beneath the small foyer leading into the child care area, exposing parts of the building's foundation.

Erosion may have been occurring for an extended period without being detected due to the building's configuration. In 1983, the groundwater level was determined to be at nine feet in the general area. Years before, the water table in the same area was at 20 feet.

A pump removes water from drainage tile around the building and apparently has drawn in particles of sand. The sand was washed through the drainage system into the sewers, resulting in the erosion.

"Some of the footings are hanging in air," said Gabriel, underscoring the repairs should start as soon as possible.

A letter from the district's insurance underwriter said certain changes in the school buildings are necessary to comply with requirements.

The primary concern is replacing doors to enclose stairwells for fire safety reasons, Gabriel said. Total cost of such projects was estimated at $30,000.

New fire doors recently installed in one area of the school under the Illinois Life-Safety Code would have to be removed and placed elsewhere to meet the insurance company's request, said Superintendent of Schools Robert N. Vickers.

A survey of the insurance company's requirements will be made prior to further action, it was agreed. The board authorized payment of an annual insurance premium amounting to $26,190 which covers all aspects of the district's liability and buildings except for the school boiler. The cost is the same as last year. Venice joined with other area school districts last year to form the Mississippi Valley Insurance Cooperative after insurance rates skyrocketed.

has not filed an increase request.

Under the proposed settlement, Ill. Power would relinquish its authority, previously granted by the ICC in a 1986 case, to collect certain Clinton-related operating and maintenance expenses.

The company also would be allowed to postpone any rate adjustment due to the impact of the Tax Reform Act until its next rate case.

Early in the year, pursuant to an ICC directive, the company began to set aside revenues equivalent to the estimated reduction in federal income tax expense resulting from the Tax Reform Act.

Ill. Power projects the financial impact of the proposed settlement, if approved, would decrease future earnings by an estimated $2 million to $3 million per month until the next electric rate order is effective.

Electric rate settlement is proposed

SPRINGFIELD — Consumer and utility representatives negotiating to resolve issues related to the Clinton electric power station proposed a settlement of several issues July 23.

The proposed settlement was presented to the Illinois Commerce Commission (ICC) by the Governor's Office of Consumer Services, the Illinois Office of Public Counsel, the Illinois Small Business Utility Advocate, the Illinois Industrial Energy Consumers and Illinois Power Company.

The parties jointly filed a motion Thursday with the ICC to begin formal proceedings for approval of the elements of the proposed settlement, which include:

— Establishing criteria to determine the date when Clinton power station Unit 1 will be declared in-service for accounting purposes; include further costs of the plant in rate.

"Treatment of all operating and maintenance expenses for Clinton effective with the in-service date; and "Deferring any rate adjustment reflecting the effects of the Tax Reform Act of 1986 until the next Illinois Power rate order issued by the ICC.

The proposed settlement would establish definitive standards for declaring Clinton in-service and for declaring plant costs eligible for rate base inclusion.

Ill. Power said the standards for declaring Clinton in-service for accounting purposes were met on April 24 and that the criteria for rate base eligibility are projected to be met in November 1987.

Any adjustment to Ill. Power's rates to include additional Clinton costs would result only after the company formally requests a rate increase and the ICC conducts a rate proceeding and issues an order. The company

National Steel profitable in 2nd quarter, 1st half

National Steel Corp. on July 21 reported a net profit of $18.4 million for the second quarter of 1987, compared to a net loss of $4.6 million the second quarter of 1986. For the first half of 1987, National earned a net profit of $12.8 million, compared to a net loss of $44.0 million in the first half of 1986.

Net sales for the second quarter and first half of 1987 were $616 million and $1.2 billion, compared to $531 million and $1.0 billion for the same periods in 1986.

Steel shipments in the second quarter totaled 1,220,000 tons, a 12.1 percent increase over the 1,089,000 tons shipped in the second quarter of 1986. For the first half of 1987, shipments were 2,353,000 tons compared to 2,148,000 tons for the first half of 1986.

Steel production was 1,354,000 tons in the second quarter and 2,538,000 tons for the first half of 1987, compared to 1,256,000 tons and 2,450,000 in the respective 1986 periods.

National Steel's chairman and chief executive officer, Howard M. Love, commenting on the corporation's best quarter since the second quarter of 1984, said, "National Steel has been showing significant operating improvements over the past several months, and it is gratifying to see those improvements reflected on the bottom line."

"While it is true that external factors helped our performance in the second quarter — prices were firmer and market demand was stronger than anticipated — a significant portion of our financial performance resulted from internal improvements."

"Consistent improvement in product quality has enabled us to increase our sales of higher-margin steels. We had no serious unscheduled downtime in the second quarter, and both our energy savings and yield figures improved significantly during the three-month period," Love said.

On May 7, National Steel and Marubeni Corp. of Japan announced plans to form ProCoil Corporation, a new steel blanking and slitting facility that will be located near Detroit to handle first-stage processing operations for automotive customers.

National announced plans in the second quarter to relocate a major portion of its research and development operations to a new Technical Research Center in Trenton, Mich., just south of Detroit.

Construction continued on National's new 2.2 million ton continuous caster located adjacent to its Great Lakes Division. Start-up of the related ladle metallurgy station occurred on June 6, and the new caster is scheduled to begin operations in the fourth quarter.

When the caster becomes fully operational, National will produce over 90 percent of its steel via the continuous cast method, a figure comparable with the most competitive steel companies in the world.

A.O. Smith sales increase

A.O. Smith Corp. on July 14 reported sales for the first six months of the year of $511,907,000, a 9.8 percent increase over the first six months of 1986. Second-quarter sales were $250,779,000, compared with $243,827,000 for the second quarter of 1986.

Six months earnings for continuing operations were $12,323,000 or $1.34 per fully diluted share, compared with $16,596,000 or $1.82 per fully diluted share for the first six months of 1986.

Continuing operations earnings for the second quarter totaled $5,003,000 or 56 cents per fully diluted share, a decline from the $8,987,000 or 93 cents per fully diluted share for the second quarter of 1986.

The chairman and chief executive officer, Thomas I. Dolan, cited nonrecurring costs associated with new truck contracts and new water products facilities and the continuing weakness in the Mexican automotive markets as adversely affecting first-half results. In addition, he noted that extremely competitive pricing continues in all of the company's markets.

Dolan said he is pleased with higher sales and year-to-date earnings for 1987 reported by the Electrical Products Co., which manufactures fractional horsepower and hermetic electric motors. Electrical Products continues to benefit from the volume gains associated with last year's acquisition of the Westinghouse Small Motor business.

Dolan pointed out the strong second-quarter sales and earnings performance of Smith

Fiberglass Products Inc., which manufactures fiberglass reinforced plastic piping systems, and A.O. Smith Harvestore Products Inc., which continued its profitable trend in the second quarter.

Smith, with its subsidiaries and affiliates, is a diversified manufacturer ranked 310th on the 1987 Fortune list of industrial corporations. Its product lines include auto and truck structural components, water heating equipment, fractional horsepower and hermetic electric motors, fiberglass reinforced plastic piping systems, agricultural feed storage and handling systems, and glass-based protective industrial coatings.

Slip into peak salad season by tossing around favorites

Although salads are served year around, summertime signals the peak of salad season. Fresh fruits and vegetables are most plentiful now and less expensive than any other time of year. The best news is that salads are one of the easiest ways to limit cheese, meat, poultry and fish consumption to less than 7 ounces per day, in accordance with dietary recommendations from the American Heart Association.

Salads can be served in many exciting and attractive ways. They can be used as entrees or side dishes. The combinations are endless.

Begin with favorites. If they tend to contain a lot of fat, look at ways to reduce fat content. Most commercial mayonnaises and dressings are now available in low fat versions. Stretch the salad dressing farther by adding low fat yogurt, wine vinegar or lemon juice. Give extra zip to pasta, rice or potato salads by adding a dash of dry mustard or curry powder instead of salt.

Serve salads in natural fashion. Many fresh vegetables and fruits make attractive serving bowls. Remove pulp from red or green peppers, tomatoes, zucchini and melons. Stuff or fill them, then garnish and serve.

Stuffed tomatoes are a decorative dish. Scoop out the inside of a ripe tomato and stuff it with a mixture of the pulp plus chopped fresh vegetables, chopped and cooked poultry or fish, and a dash of mayonnaise and mustard. Garnish with fresh dill weed. Vegetable bowls make any simple pasta, potato or marinaded vegetable salad into festive, mouth-watering treats.

A quartered, fresh pineapple makes another attractive serving idea. When quartering, do not remove stem and leaves. Slice and remove pineapple, forming a bowl. Add chunked pineapple to a salad — such as fruit salad or salmon salad — and spoon salad into pineapple shell.

Marinated tomato slices are the perfect accompaniment to any meal.

Marinated tomato slices

3 medium fresh tomatoes, sliced 1/4 inch thick
4 lettuce leaves
1 tsp. garlic powder
1 tsp. pepper
1/4 tsp. basil
1 tbsp. dried minced onion
1 tbsp. wine vinegar
2 tbsp. oil

Arrange tomato slices over lettuce on serving platter.

In separate bowl, combine garlic powder, pepper, basil, onion, vinegar and oil. Mix well. Spoon a small amount of marinade on each tomato slice. Cover and place in refrigerator one hour.

Yields 4 servings. Each serving provides about 83 calories, 3.9 gm. fat, 4 mg. sodium and no cholesterol.

Over The Waves

Bring in beans and broccoli; pep up veggies with sauce

By Judy Eddy
Home economist

Crisp broccoli, rosy tomatoes, bright pinwheels of squash are descriptions that bring to mind the bounty of a summer harvest. Through microwave cooking, delicious combinations of vegetables can bring color, variety and taste to the table.

A mixture of fresh vegetables, cooked to the tender-crisp stage in a microwave oven, can be a welcome change from salads. Vegetables should be used at their peak of quality, remembering that the finished product will only be as good as ingredients that go into it.

A combination of broccoli flowerettes, thin slices of yellow squash, slivers of pepper, sliced mushrooms and wedges of fresh tomatoes makes a bright addition to mealtime. Combine these vegetables, leaving the tomatoes to add just before serving, in the desired amounts in a microwave-safe casserole. Add 2 table-spoons water, 2 teaspoons oil, a generous sprinkle of garlic powder, and, if desired, a sprinkle of lemon pepper. Toss to be sure all seasonings are distributed.

Cover with plastic wrap and microwave on high five minutes. Check for tenderness. Add extra minutes and seconds sparingly, remembering that food cooks much faster in a microwave oven and continues to cook after the power is off.

Add the tomatoes the last 30 seconds, allowing just enough cooking to heat them through. Tomatoes lose their solid texture rapidly in heat.

Sprinkle with parmesan cheese before serving.

Another neat trick with a microwave oven is green beans served as a crisp addition to a meal. The beans can be served in long or short pieces as desired. Wash 1 pound of fresh green beans and break into the desired length. Cook the beans in a covered microwave-safe dish with 1/4 cup water until tender-crisp, about 7 to 8 minutes. Notice that the beans develop a more brilliant green color when cooked in this manner.

When the beans are at their optimum texture, remove them from the oven, remove the covering and drain the moisture. Meanwhile, prepare the dressing by melting 1/4 cup butter or margarine in a microwave-safe dish. Add 1/4 teaspoon dill weed, 1/4 teaspoon garlic powder and 1/4 teaspoon basil to mix. Pour the dressing over beans just before serving.

Experiment with combinations of vegetables to enjoy the full benefits of this rapid, nutritious method of food preparation.

Appetizing idea will start a meal

Soup in the summer? Serve it chilled—a traditional vichyssoise, a delightful fruit soup or jellied soup can give any menu a cool touch of class. Serve in a pretty chilled punch bowl or tureen with favorite crackers.

Use patience to wait for ashy gray coals

When preparing coals for barbecue, they should look ashy gray in the daytime, red at night. Never start cooking while briquettes are still black.

Good Food—Good Health Gardeners and their friends smile at annual zucchini load

What to do with all those zucchini is a perennial problem served annually. Even those without their own home garden probably receive an ample supply from neighbors and friends anxious to share their bounty.

The zucchini harvest starts early and does not end until first frost, so there is plenty of time to try the scores of ingenious uses for this nutritious vegetable—pie, pizza, soufflé, fritters, omelets, casseroles, lasagna, sticks, soup, pancakes, tempura, relishes, cookies, puddings and, of course, bread.

Zucchini is a variety of summer squash. It should be harvested while young and tender. The largest zucchini only has huge seeds, no prize. Best when dark green and shiny, a zucchini should be 4 to 10 inches long and feel heavy for its size.

Collecting zucchini recipes is both a necessary and rewarding endeavor as kitchen counters, window sills and refrigerator top start to overflow. So boil it, bake it, broil it, grate it, stuff it, can it or serve it raw—but enjoy it.

An attractive and unusual way of serving zucchini which is mild in flavor, Lemon Florentine Zucchini Boats make a good side dish for a strongly flavored entrée. They can be served with fish or other dishes that would be overwhelmed by more pungent or spicy accompaniments. The flavor of summer vegetables take center stage with simple Zucchini Tomato Stew. A bit of basil and pepper provide a subtle flavor accent. Serve it with fish or other mild-flavored entrees.

Lemon Florentine zucchini (about 1 lb.) small onion, finely chopped 2 garlic cloves, minced 1 tsp. margarine 1 tsp. nutmeg (10 oz.) pkg. frozen chopped spinach, thawed, drained well 1 cup part-skim ricotta cheese 1 tsp. lemon juice Grated peel of 1/2 lemon 2 dashes pepper sauce, if desired 1 tsp. grated parmesan cheese Bring water in large saucepan or Dutch oven to boil. make "boats." Mix center pieces into spinach-cheese mixture. Arrange zucchini boats cut-side up in shallow baking dish. Stuff with spinach mixture. Sprinkle with parmesan cheese. Bake at 375° for 20 minutes.

Yields 6 servings, about 76 calories and 4 gm. fat each. Zucchini-tomato stew 1/2 cup onion, sliced 2 cloves garlic, chopped 1/2 cup water 1/2 cup chopped green pepper 2 cups zucchini (about 1/2 lb.) in 1/2 inch slices 2 cups tomatoes (about 4 or 5 medium), seeded, coarsely chopped 2 tsp. dried basil Pepper to taste 1 large heavy saucepan, heat onion, garlic and water. Cook until tender.

Add green pepper, then zucchini. Top with tomatoes, basil and pepper. Cook over low heat, covered, 10 to 15 minutes or until squash is tender. For a less liquid stew, remove pan lid the last few minutes of cooking.

Yields about 4 servings, each 1 gm. fat. This information is provided by the American Institute for Cancer Research, Washington, D.C. Recipes are reviewed by registered dietitian Karen Collins.

Oil grill well before cooking seafood

Before beginning to grill seafood, line the fire bowl with aluminum foil for easier clean-up and oil the grill well to prevent sticking. Thaw frozen fish and shellfish before grilling.

Here are some general tips for cooking seafood on a grill:

• Fish is cooked when it begins to flake when tested with fork, but is still moist and juicy. Baste fish often during cooking.

• Cut large fillets into smaller pieces so they will be easier to remove from grill. Foil also can be placed underneath fillets for easier removal.

• Place fillets, skin-side down to cook. Fillets under one inch thick do not need to be turned. Steaks and whole fish should be turned after half the cooking time. Whole fish is done when a fin can be removed with a gentle pull.

Oatmeal cookie fruit pie

Oatmeal Cookie Pie Shell or graham cracker crust pie shell
1 qt. vanilla ice cream or ice milk
4 1/2 cups fresh peaches, nectarines, plums and/or pears (See Note)
2 tbsp. brown sugar, packed
1 tsp. vanilla

Fill pie shell with ice cream. Freeze until firm. Just before serving, toss fruit with sugar and vanilla. Arrange over top of pie. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Oatmeal Cookie Pie Shell: In medium bowl, combine 1 cup uncooked oats; 3/4 cup sliced almonds, slightly crushed; 3 table-spoons packed brown sugar, and 1 tablespoon flour. Add 1/2 cup butter or margarine, melted. Toss thoroughly.

Press evenly in 9-inch pie plate. Bake in 375° oven 10 minutes or until lightly browned. Remove from oven. Press evenly with back of spoon. Cool on rack.

Braise meat cuts for cooked tenderness

Braising, a form of moist heat cooking, is best suited to less tender cuts of meat, such as beef pot roasts, beef short ribs, lamb shanks and pork shoulder cubes.

According to the National Live Stock and Meat Board, braising is used to soften connective tissue in less tender cuts and to provide a moist cooking medium to help reduce surface drying. By following proper braising techniques, tender, juicy and flavorful meat entrees are obtained from economical meat cuts.

To braise easily, start by browning meat in small amount of oil in large frying pan or Dutch oven. Remove excess drippings. Season meat to taste. Add small amount of liquid to keep meat moist. Cover utensil tightly. Cook at low temperature on top of range or in slow oven (300° to 325°).

Sit up to red, white and blue of simple, fruitful desserts

It's time to unfurl the red, white and blue. The festive patriotic style is cool. Food should be like elegant fashions—simple in form, function, color.

Here is a trio of foolproof desserts. Complicated classics—the crepe, a tart and a mousse—have been transformed into easy masterpieces that show off sensational summer fruit. The success of each is based on the use of convenience products, such as gelatin, sweet chocolate and whipped topping.

Because so few people today have time to spend in the kitchen, there is no stigma—in fact, it is necessary—to rely on products that are quick and easy yet do not eliminate great taste.

One absolutely smashing dessert is fruit crepe cornucopias. A dazzling mix of fresh summer fruit and frozen whipped topping cascades out of the crepes. When shaping the crepes, roll them into cones, place them seam-side down in a dish so they hold their shape. Then, an ultra-smooth sweet chocolate sauce is drizzled on top of the crepes for an awe-inspiring presentation.

For added panache, flavor the sauce with a hint of almond extract or a liqueur. The sauce is so deliciously basic that it can be used for ice cream or other desserts, too.

The trio's second dessert, triple berry tart, is a treasure house of berries. The richness of a classic pastry cream is achieved by combining cream and vanilla instant pudding. A touch of orange liqueur heightens the berry taste. The rich and creamy base is poured into a ready-made sponge cake shell, avoiding a hot oven.

Finally, peach melba mousse combines two classic desserts into one show-stopper. A light and airy mousse is made easily from peach gelatin and whipped toppings, spooned into fine dessert, parfait or champagne glasses. The piece de resistance? A fresh raspberry sauce, elevated with a touch of orange liqueur.

Fruit crepe cornucopias (4 oz.) sweet cooking chocolate 2 tbs. corn syrup 1/2 cup heavy cream 1/2 cup peach preserves 1/2 cup frozen whipped topping, thawed 3 cups whole or sliced fresh fruit (strawberries, blueberries, raspberries or orange sections) Melt chocolate in saucepan over very low heat, stirring constantly. Blend in corn syrup. Gradually blend in cream. Set aside.

Fold each crepe in quarters, securing with wooden picks, if necessary. Lift one section of crepe. Spoon in whipped topping and fruit. Top with chocolate sauce.

Makes 6 servings.
Note: To prepare chocolate sauce in microwave, break chocolate in half and place in microwave-safe bowl. Heat at high 1 minute. Stir. Heat 1/2 to 1 minute longer until almost melted. Stir until smooth. Blend in corn syrup. Gradually add cream.

Triple berry tart (cup cold heavy cream 1/2 cup cold milk 1/2 cup (4 serving) vanilla instant pudding mix 2 tbs. orange liqueur or orange juice (10 inch) fluted sponge cake shell 3 cups fresh fruit (sliced strawberries, raspberries, blueberries) Pour cream into bowl. Add pudding mix. Beat with wire whisk until well blended, 1 to 2 minutes. Add liqueur.

Pour into sponge cake shell. Let stand 5 minutes. Arrange fruit on filling. Chill about 1 hour.

Peach melba mousse (pint fresh raspberries 1/2 cup sugar 1 tbs. orange liqueur or fresh lemon juice 1/2 cup (4 serving) peach gelatin 1/2 cup boiling water 1/2 cup cold water 1/2 cup (4 oz.) frozen whipped topping, thawed Set aside 12 raspberries for garnish. Combine remaining berries, sugar and liqueur. Let stand about 15 minutes.

Puree in blender or crush well. Chill. Strain to remove seeds, if desired. Dissolve gelatin in boiling water. Add cold water. Chill until slightly thickened. Blend in whipped topping.

Spoon 1/4 cup into each of 6 dessert glasses. Add raspberry sauce, using scant 3 tablespoons in each glass. Carefully spoon in remaining gelatin mixture. Chill until set, about 1 hour.

Garnish with reserved berries and additional whipped topping and fresh peach slices, if desired. Makes 3 cups plus sauce or 6 servings.

Flexible packaging comes in all shapes

Flexible packaging is just what its name implies. It flexibly alters its shape to accommodate the product it holds or the package to which it is applied.

Flexible packages are lightweight, versatile, easy to open and reclose, easy to handle, strong when wet, reusable, convenient and an excellent protection against moisture and odors. Flexible packaging comes in bags, pouches, labels, liners, sheets, sleeves and rollstock.

In the case of a plastic grocery sack, supermarket industry executives note that one truckload of plastic sacks is equivalent to a minimum of six truckloads of paper bags.

History gives tomato with unfair reputation

The Spanish conquistador, Cortez, took tomato seeds from the Aztecs back to Spain. In 1522 the tomato was introduced into Naples, Italy, while the country still was under Spanish rule.

When it was realized that a tomato belonged to the Nightshade Family, which contains a number of poisonous plants, people concluded that the tomato was also poisonous. They were brought to the colonies from Europe and raised as ornamentals. The Puritans felt that tomatoes had a suggestive and sensual appearance and therefore were evil fruits.

Brown rice layers need longer time

Brown rice is the whole, unpolished rice, with only the outer husks and a small amount of bran removed.

The bran layer accounts for the characteristic tan color and the nut-like flavor and chewy texture. The inner part of the grain is tender; the outer layers are slightly crunchy. It has a longer cooking time than regular-milled rice, because the bran layers act as a barrier to heat and moisture.

The oil in the bran can become rancid, limiting shelf life of brown rice to about six months compared to white rice that keeps indefinitely. The brown rice is somewhat more nutritious than white rice.

Long grain rice tops choice of all types

Long grain rice is four to five times longer than it is wide. After cooking, the grains remain separate, distinct and dry. For this reason, long grain is preferred for side dishes, salads, curries, stews and in seafood and meat dishes. Long grain rice accounts for 60 percent or more of the domestic consumption.

Dip fresh fruits into citrus cream

Blend together 1 cup dairy sour cream, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1 tablespoon confectioner's sugar, 1 teaspoon grated orange peel and dash of salt. Chill.

Serve with chilled fresh cherries, peaches or nectarines. Makes 1 cup.

New-fashioned foods comfort with down-home convenience

Down-home cooking is chic again. While meatloaf, rice pudding and three bean salad are reappearing on the menu, it is doubtful that Grandma would recognize them. Today's comfort foods are lighter, leaner and more convenient to prepare.

Most favorite recipes can be updated, and a good place to start is reducing portion size. A three-ounce cooked, trimmed serving of lean veal, for example, has fewer than 200 calories and is rich in protein, B vitamins, iron and zinc. When shopping, use the guideline of four ounces per serving for boneless veal cuts, eight ounces per serving for bone-in cuts such as rib chops.

By changing cooking methods and substituting an ingredient here and there, calories and fat can be trimmed even more. Broil, bake, poach or steam instead of fry. Add richness to old-fashioned desserts like rice pudding with evaporated skim milk rather than half-and-half. Substitute plain lowfat yogurt for sour cream. Thicken sauces with cornstarch instead of flour.

Summer Swiss Steak is an old-fashioned favorite that has been modified to fit today's way of eating and cooking. Grandma floured and browned her round steak before cooking it for hours in a rib-sticking gravy.

This version substitutes lighter veal round steak and goes from range top to dinner table in 15 minutes. Cutting a round steak into serving-size pieces and pounding until thin ensures quick cooking and tender results. After an initial browning, the heat is reduced and the veal cooks in its own juices until fork tender. A summer-fresh sauce of sautéed mushrooms and red ripe tomato enlivened with fresh basil and a splash of dry white wine cooks in the same skillet.

Accompany Summer Swiss Steak with pasta tossed with grated parmesan cheese. A wedge of melon or bowl of berries ends this smart-eating meal on a sweet note.

Summer swiss steak—1 lb. shiitake mushrooms, button mushrooms or combination 1 1/2 lb. boneless veal round steak, cut 1/2 inch thick; 1/2 cup olive oil; salt and freshly ground pepper to taste; 1/2 cup dry white wine; medium tomatoes, seeded, diced (about 2 cups); 1/2 cup thinly sliced fresh basil; 1/2 cup mushrooms with damp paper towel. Pat dry. Trim stems. Slice small mushrooms in half, large mushrooms in quarters. Set aside. Cut veal round steak in six pieces. Using meat mallet, pound to 1/4-inch thickness.

Heat oil in 12-inch nonstick skillet. Add veal, a few pieces at a time. Remove as browned on both sides and keep warm.

Return veal to skillet. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Cook, uncovered, over medium heat, turning occasionally, until tender, 4 to 5 minutes. Transfer veal to platter. Keep warm.

Add wine and mushrooms to skillet, scraping browned bits from bottom of pan. Cook over medium-high heat, stirring frequently, until mushrooms are tender, about 3 minutes.

Add tomato and basil. Heat through. Spoon vegetable mixture and pan juices over round steak.

Makes 6 servings; 210 calories, 36 gm. protein; 6 gm. fat, 5 gm. carbohydrate, 2 mg. iron, 254 mg. sodium (using 1/2 teaspoon salt), 112 mg. cholesterol each.

Journals sponsor tennis tourney

The Suburban Journals will help sponsor this year's Triple A High School Tennis Tournament. The tournament will be held Aug. 17-22 at the Triple A Club (Mallinckrodt Courts), the Dwight Davis Tennis Center and the Huddell Courts in St. Louis. It is open to all St. Louis area high school students eligible to play in the United States Tennis Association 16's and 18's.

It will be singles only with first-round consolation. There will be two flights: A championship flight for boys and girls who have played on their high school team or have earned a USTA District Junior ranking; and a novice flight for players who have never played in high school and have not earned a ranking. Entry fee for the championship flight is $10 and USTA membership is required. The entry fee for the novice flight is $5, and entrants will also receive an initial one-year USTA membership worth $8 plus free entry to the Novice Clinic Aug. 15.

That clinic will be at the Triple A Club and will be conducted from 2 to 4 p.m. to help novice entrants prepare for the tournament. It will be run by a local teaching professional and instructors from the Sunset Tennis Club. All novice entrants receive free court practice Aug. 16 at the Triple A Mallinckrodt Courts from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

All finalists and consolation winners will receive trophies, and all entrants will receive T-shirts designed for the tournament.

Entry forms are available from high school coaches and athletic departments, at the tournament locations and at most tennis facilities in the St. Louis area. A USTA universal entry form can also be used. Mail entries to Triple A Youth Foundation, 5163 Clayton Road, Forest Park, St. Louis, Mo., 63110. (Phone: 314-652-2433). The entry deadline is Aug. 13 at 5 p.m. The tournament is sanctioned by the USTA and results will count for USTA rankings.

Smith, Coleman have photos taken for Variety Club

Baseball fans will have the opportunity to have their photos taken with Cardinal stars Ozzie Smith and Vince Coleman on Aug. 1 from 11 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. at West Port Plaza.

The $5 charge per photo, which will be taken at the enclosed Fashion Mall by a professional photographer, will go to Young Variety children's charities.

Free refreshments will be provided by Pepsi-Cola. The Slice fire engine and the Pepsi-Cola hot air balloon will be on display at West Port Plaza during the players' appearance.

All funds raised by Young Variety and the St. Louis Variety Club remain in the St. Louis area to purchase wheel chairs, braces and other costly orthopedic equipment for children whose parents have nowhere else to turn.

Pool passes being sold for half price

Season passes for the Wilson Park Pool are being sold for half price now.

Family passes are now $22.50, children's passes are $7.50 and adult passes are $12.50.

Don't be fooled! Not all retail outlets advertising Goodyear tires are authorized Goodyear outlets.

Some dealers advertise Goodyear tires they obtain through secondary sources, but they are not authorized Goodyear outlets. They do not have access to Goodyear factory training or factory technical information. Often they have old or incomplete inventories and cannot immediately deliver the best Goodyear tire for your driving needs. For top quality Goodyear products, buy from a Goodyear direct outlet. The authorized Goodyear outlets listed are staffed with trained sales and service experts who know how to meet your needs for maximum tire mileage.

At Edgewood We Believe

Edgewood-Edwardsville
Chemical Dependency Unit

There is more to recovery than treating just the physical symptoms.

We believe in treating the whole person. We know your problem goes beyond simply the physical addiction—it includes the emotional hurt as well.

At Edgewood your stay remains totally confidential. You meet daily with a staff of professionals including doctors, psychologists, social workers, and clergy—many of whom are recovering alcoholics and have been through the same Edgewood program. Working together they try to rebuild your life. And after a day of counseling you can take advantage of the pastoral setting Edgewood has to offer. We feel time to yourself is important too. A walk along the lake shore—pausing to skip a stone across the water. Joining in a game of volleyball or horseshoes. Or maybe just reading a novel under one of the many trees along the lake.

At Edgewood we view the healing process as a four-part process that includes the physical, the psychological, the social and the spiritual. Only when the abuser is healthy in these four areas can his or her life return to normal.

So if you feel like you have reached the end of the line, do something about it. You have somewhere to turn. Call us and begin on your road to recovery.

The Edgewood Program

The Edgewood Program is a service of St. Elizabeth Medical Center

Williamsburg look recalls a gracious time in decorating

The style of decorating known as the Williamsburg look is an American classic. Never really out of fashion, it nonetheless has ups and downs. Today it's on the upswing again.

A fine example of the Williamsburg look can be seen in the interior remodeling of an ordinary home by designers at Armstrong. They rearranged a kitchen, living room and formal dining room to make a large suite in which the once-separate areas now flow together. The approach to remodeling makes homes seem larger.

The furnishings, period accessories and architectural details such as the elaborate crown moldings (stock moldings available at building supply stores) all serve to evoke a gracious time from America's past. It's an elegant setting midway between formal and informal.

Straight back through the kitchen is a cozy breakfast nook for everyday dining. It's outfitted with a wrought-iron table and chairs painted a crisp white.

A door at the left side of the kitchen as you enter leads into a formal dining area, and from there you go up two steps to a sitting area where two wing chairs face a fireplace. There the Williamsburg mood is so strong you can almost imagine George Washington and Thomas Jefferson sitting there.

Back to the present, the suite's color scheme is a surprising periwinkle blue (almost the shade of violets); another, softer blue barely tinged with green; and white. It's unexpected because Williamsburg colors are traditionally darker-hued blues and greens.

The color scheme was suggested by the shade of the crisscross blue stripes on the white Armstrong Solarian no-wax flooring. The same no-wax floor pattern was used throughout the suite to give unity to the decorating plan.

The wall treatments are identical also. They feature blue-and-white striped wallpaper above periwinkle blue wainscoting.

A wallpaper border in related colors circles the tops of the walls beneath the elaborate dental molding. The patterns of the wallpaper and wallpaper border are repeated in the upholstery of the furniture.

Other Williamsburg touches include: mahogany Chippendale table and chairs in the dining area; brass and glass wall sconces; recessed shelves, topped by carved-wood scallop shells, for displaying treasured and composites; and gilt-framed nature prints. A white and soft-blue Dhurrie rug (a fringed rug from India) covers a section of the striped no-wax flooring in the sitting area.

All in all, the suite is a monument to the good taste of America's colonial inhabitants, although "monument" is perhaps not the best word. There's nothing out of the ordinary about this remodeled home, nothing that says "do not touch."

In fact, the suite's ultimate charm is its livability. It's meant to be used and enjoyed every day of the week.

A free brochure on the Williamsburg suite contains more information, photographs and floor plans. To receive it, write to: Armstrong World Industries, Attn: Free Williamsburg Suite Brochure, P.O. Box 3001, Lancaster, Pa. 17604. Or call 800-253-3823 toll-free and ask for a complimentary copy of the Williamsburg suite brochure.

It's almost time to pinch your petunias

Get ready to pinch your petunias when summer is at its peak.

Petunias are thermophilic, so their growth habit varies according to temperature and day length. At temperatures of 62 degrees and a little lower, the plants should be well-branched, bushy, compact and multicolored. From 63 to 75 degrees, day length affects the plants' growth habit. If they receive less than 12 hours of daylight at these temperatures, they will be single-stemmed and have only one flower. Long days at these temperatures will produce better-looking plants. At temperatures more than 75 degrees, day length no longer has an effect, and the plants will be tall and leggy and bear very few flowers.

Pinch petunias at planting time in the early spring to encourage branching and flowering. By the second week in July, they need a second pinching. Cut off each stem about 3 or 4 inches above ground level, weed, fertilize and clean up dead and dying leaves. You will have flowers again in about two weeks. Pinch again in mid-August and near the end of September (early in September if frost dates in your area come early) to maintain the display.

The five classes of petunias are:

(1) Grandiflora doubles — They can be used in containers as well as in beds. They provide a large range of solid colors and two-tone combinations.

(2) Multiflora doubles — When planted outside, these bloom more freely than grandiflora doubles. They are compact in growth and provide outstanding color, even under difficult conditions such as heat and drought.

(3) Single grandiflora — This class continues to lead in popularity because of its large and attractive individual flowers. Petals are ruffled, fringed or both; and the flower size is medium or large. They are available in a wide range of colors. There are also many bicolors. Some grandifloras are better suited for containers; while those with more vigorous growth habits may be better in beds. Magic series cultivars may be used either way.

(4) Single bedding class of petunias provides vigorous plants in a large variety of colors and patterns.

(5) Single floribunda — This class, recently introduced, bears flowers that are between the grandifloras and multifloras in size. Its flowering habit is extremely prolific and the tolerance to disease and weather is excellent. Summer Madness is the first cultivar in the class. It produces lots of bright, fiery-red flowers with deep red veins.

Investing in collectibles: hobby can turn nice profit

What may have started out as a hobby a few years ago can turn out to be an interesting way to invest your money. Coins, stamps, antiques and other objects can be a profitable way to spend your leisure hours if you invest wisely and have the patience to wait the returns.

Patience is the key to just about any investment. However, experts familiar with the investment potential of collectibles agree that predicting growth in value is risky. The prudent collector must thoroughly research the value of his or her intended collection and patiently await the reward.

Collectibles: a serious interest in collectibles can be a fun way to increase your net worth. The value of certain collectibles, such as limited edition figures, coins, stamps and paintings, increases over time. The holding period for a recognized piece of art is generally from five to 10 years, with the value increasing considerably 30 to 40 years after the initial purchase. Before you buy, it is wise to ask the dealer how many of the items are available, if it is the only edition and whether any reproductions have been done by the original artist. Some states require dealers to inform customers of these facts.

Another consideration in estimating the value of your collection is its quality; generally, the better the quality, the more marketable the item. In addition to the quality, the attractiveness, perfection and rarity of an object make it desirable. And, the more desirable an item, the higher its value.

To make the most of any opportunity for growth in your collectible's value, CPAs say you should consult a catalog and an expert in the field. Read all the information you can about collectibles you are considering purchasing. Check collectors' newsletters, trade magazines and books. Remember to include the cost of these publications when you are estimating the expenses of collecting. Also, keep in mind that optimistic reports in these publications are not a guarantee that your collectible will appreciate in value.

To actually get a return on your investment, you must sell it. An auction gallery might be a wise choice since it presents the opportunity for competitive bidding. Keep in mind that dealers and galleries can charge anywhere from 5 percent to 25 percent commission, which sometimes, but not always, is split between the seller and the buyer. An item sold on consignment may take several months or longer to sell. Thus, if you want readily convertible assets and a highly liquid investment, certain collectibles may not fit your needs.

Before selling a collectible, check with a CPA on the tax consequences of losses or gains that may result from that sale. He or she can also advise you on whether or not that collectible is classified as an investment in the eyes of the IRS.

Show will benefit local AIDS effort

Tennessee Williams was a man who struggled with his homosexuality, said actor Ray Stricklyn. Stricklyn portrays the famous playwright in "Confessions of a Nightingale," which is at The Sheldon in St. Louis now through Aug. 2.

"He certainly lived his life as a homosexual yet he dearly loved women," Stricklyn said. "I have one line (in the play) that says 'I don't think I could live in a completely homosexual environment.'"

However, it's difficult to define how Williams' homosexuality influenced his art, Stricklyn said. But the actor said many of Williams' characters are a prototype of himself, including Blanche ("A Streetcar Named Desire").

Appropriately, performances of "Confessions" will benefit St. Louis Effort for AIDS (EFA). Kevin Fleet, a spokesman for the organization, said it will be one of the largest fund-raisers the organization has had. All proceeds from opening night tickets will go to EFA. Half of ticket revenue from other five performances will be given to EFA. Tickets July 29 through Aug. 2 are $17.50. Call EFA at 421-3814.

Fleet said the money will go into the organization's general fund, which supports programs like a publication service and volunteer training for the hot line, buddy support system and speakers' bureau.

EFA was formed July 1985 by Dr. Donald Salzman, D.D.S., to assist the growing number of people in the metropolitan area with AIDS and AIDS-related complex. It is a non-profit group largely supported by private money.

Fleet said EFA and Walter Gunn, executive director of The Sheldon, planned the benefit about two months ago.

Joan Baez poised for comeback

By Paul A. Harris
Journal correspondent

A veteran of 50 recordings, eight of them gold, Joan Baez is about to burst back on the American music scene. It's been eight years since her last album, but her new recording, "Recently," has just been released on Gold Castle Records. Her autobiography, "And a Voice to Sing With," is on bookstore shelves and she has just set out on a national concert tour.

The 46-year-old singer has kept a frantic pace trying to promote her latest efforts. "It's exhausting, but it's nice," she said. "I'm coasting in a way after a three-year work-out on the book and the record. In a way this is the fun part, because I like both of them."

A generation of folk music fans recall Baez as the embodiment of the 1960s social consciousness. She was embraced by the civil rights movement. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. once remarked of her voice, "I do believe I hear the sound of an angel."

She was one of the most vocal opponents of the Vietnam war. Her former husband, and the father of her son, Gabriel, was political activist David Harris, who was imprisoned during the mid-60s for draft evasion. Baez made a trip to Hanoi, North Vietnam, during the height of U.S. bombing raids, and even recorded a lengthy song in a bomb shelter.

"My life seems a little more complex," Baez said, reflecting on that era and the present. "Probably the stardom, confuses the issue—gives you things to deal with that not everybody has to deal with. It's a constant balancing act."

When asked if it's difficult, a woman who flourished in socially conscious '60s to co to grips with the upwarp mobile '80s, Baez said, "It's easy. I think there's a v strong feeling in me of waiting out."

"You know how you stand a jump rope, trying to deci exactly when to jump in? It's little bit like that, and the' are spinning around like that."

Taxpayers in Illinois are giving less to checkoff accounts

SPRINGFIELD — Illinois income taxpayers gave back less of their state income tax refunds to causes through the "checkoff funds" this year but they also had fewer choices.

As of July 6, which included all returns filed by the April 15 deadline, a total of $615,922 had been donated by taxpayers to the three funds on the 1986 form, Department of Revenue spokeswoman Verenda Smith said.

That compares with a total of $730,228 contributed last year to six funds.

Smith noted some additional money is still expected to come in this year from late payers who requested extensions.

The Child Abuse Prevention fund, which is largely used to give grants to local social agencies, was again the top income tax charity, taking in $257,173 so far this year, compared to $240,052 last year.

Next was the Non-Game Wildlife Fund, used by the Department of Conservation for projects ranging from preserving bald eagle habitats to studying bats, taking in $192,910, up from last year's $171,291.

The Alzheimer's Disease Research Fund, from which grants are made to scientists to study that disabling disease, received $165,839 in contributions so far this year compared to $114,850 last year.

On last year's tax form, there were three more choices to which up to $10 each of the refund could be contributed.

They included a fund for food and housing for the homeless, for mental health research and for the state Veterans Home at Quincy.

But a law took effect last year knocking off the form any fund which did not take in at least $100,000, so those vanished.

The legislature passed bills last month authorizing two new checkoff funds on next year's form. One would assist the blind while the other would provide money to the U.S. Olympic Committee. Gov. James Thompson has not yet acted on the bills.

The governor, incidentally, who releases copies of his state and federal income tax returns every spring, did not personally contribute any of his state income tax refund to any of the checkoff funds this year.
